

COPYRIGHT AND PUBLISHING AGREEMENT

Indiana Libraries is pleased to accept for publication your article titled:

(hereinafter "the Article").

We look forward to working with you to prepare the Article for publication.

The publishing industry has grown increasingly complex in recent years, particularly with the expansion of new technologies for the delivery of information. In order to better manage the rights associated with your Article, and to provide optimal access to it, we believe that you, the Author, will retain all of the Exclusive Rights as designated in Section 106 of the Copyright Law to your Article, but will permit us, Indiana Libraries, the non-exclusive rights to publish and distribute your Article for the benefit of the scholarly and professional community. Your permission will properly serve our shared interests in reaching the largest readership possible. By securing these non-exclusive rights in the Article, we will be better able to disseminate your Article through research databases, commercial aggregators, on the internet or CD-ROM, and by other means that will exist in the years to come.

To that end, the parties to this Agreement agree as follows:

1. You will retain control of all of the Copyright Law's Section 106 Exclusive Rights and all other literary rights in and to the Article. This Agreement shall in no way limit your right to:
 - a. Reproduce, distribute, display, create derivative works, and transmit copies of the Article, whether in your own typescript or as PDF or other images from the pages of Indiana Libraries, for your own personal, professional, or educational purposes, provided that each copy includes appropriate credit to Indiana Libraries as the original published source of the Article.
 - b. Publish all or part of the Article in subsequent works of your own, such as a new article on the same subject or a book of which you are an author, provided that you credit Indiana Libraries as the original published source of the relevant material.
2. You represent and warrant that the Article is your original work, that you own the copyright in its entirety, that it contains no material that infringes the copyright of any other person, that it has not been published previously, and that you have the full power and authority to enter into and perform this Agreement. To the extent that you are aware of any reason to believe that these statements may not be true about your Article, attach appropriate explanations to this Agreement. The editors of Indiana Libraries reserve the right to reconsider publication of the Article based on questions about these matters.
3. Although you remain the copyright owner, you grant to Indiana Libraries, the Indiana Library Federation and affiliated organizations, the irrevocable, nonexclusive rights to:
 - a. Publish, reproduce, publicly distribute and display, and transmit the Article or portions thereof in any manner, including but not limited to journals, as part of collective works, as reprints, and through any medium now in existence or developed in the future including but not limited to print, electronic and digital media, computerized retrieval systems, and other formats. Indiana Libraries may exercise these rights directly or by means of third parties, including but not limited to H.W. Wilson, EBSCO, IDeA, and other publishers, aggregators, and similar parties.

- b. Adapt, translate, and format the Article as Indiana Libraries sees appropriate.
- c. Grant permission to third parties to reproduce and distribute the Article for educational or research uses, provided that Indiana Libraries requests of the third party that: (i) the author and Indiana Libraries are identified on each copy; and (ii) proper notice of copyright is affixed to each copy.
- d. Use the author's name and likeness in promoting the Article or Indiana Libraries.
- e. The Author grants the above rights without claim of royalties or other compensation.

4. Indiana Libraries shall publish your Article in accordance with its customary publication schedule, policies, and formats as they may exist from time to time, including without limitation print and electronic versions of Indiana Libraries. In support of librarianship and research, we currently use our best efforts to include a notice on each printed copy of Indiana Libraries that is substantially as follows:

Copyright 20__, Indiana Library Federation. Except as may be expressly provided elsewhere in this publication, permission is hereby granted to reproduce and distribute copies of individual works from this publication for research, library, and nonprofit educational purposes, provided that copies are distributed at or below cost, and that the author, source, and copyright notice are included on each copy. This permission is in addition to rights granted under Sections 107, 108, and other provisions of the U.S. Copyright Act.

Due to changing circumstances in the publishing industry and in copyright law, we must reserve the right to revise or delete this notice on future publications that include your Article. This copyright notice in the name of the Indiana Library Federation on the journal issue does not preclude your adding a copyright notice in your name to your individual Article or copies of it.

Executed as of the _____ day of _____, 20_____.

Author's signature

Signatures of All Co-Authors (if any)

Indiana Libraries